

WCNHCP March 2016 Newsletter

Growing into leadership

March 2016

Anne Raga, Administrative Director of Nursing Services at Campbell County Memorial Hospital, discussed how she became a leader of the Wyoming Nurses Association (WNA). Anne didn't start out looking to become the president of the WNA but as she became more involved she wanted to help guide the WNA vision. This decision to help mold the WNA from within came as she became more knowledgeable about what the WNA stands for on nursing issues.

Anne started her journey at the district level, helping a colleague that wasn't able to attend all of the state meetings. Anne sat in on the meetings learning what the WNA mission and vision is for the future of nursing. Once Anne became more comfortable with the WNA she decided to run for ANA Delegate, and then for the presidency of the WNA. Being elected president gave Anne the opportunity to not only influence policy on the state level but she was also able to attend national conferences and meet with legislators on the national level.

When asked what other nurses need to do to prepare themselves to be part of a board Anne had some suggestions. First a person needs to get to know an organization by finding out what the vision and mission of the board you are looking to be part of. You don't need to agree with 100% of what the board is doing but you need to agree with the majority of what the board stands for. Then look at what you can do as a board member to help the organization from within. When moving into executive positions take a look at who you can recruit to help guide the organization. A leader needs to help get the right people in place to ensure the mission and vision of the organization is followed.

The WCNHCP is the nursing workforce center and the Action Coalition for the State of Wyoming. The mission of the center is to strengthen the nursing workforce through on-going collaboration, communication, and consensus building to meet the health needs of the people of Wyoming.

Preceptor Orientation

Preceptor orientation modules are available on the WCNHCP website: wynursing.org. The modules can be viewed together or individually. Moreover, you can return to the modules whenever you'd like when you need more information or need a little assistance.

Click here for Preceptor Orientation modules.

To read the either entire article please click below.
Growing Into Leadership.
Talking with Emerging Nurse Leaders.

Talking with Emerging Nurse Leaders

10,000 Nurses on Boards by 2020

The Wyoming Center for Nursing and Health Care Partnerships (WCNHCP) sat down with 2 emerging nurse leaders. Melanie Pearce, Regional Supervisor, Public Health Nursing, and Michaela Walker-Herringer, Nurse Case Manager, Wyoming Workforce Services, volunteered their time to discuss what it means to be a nurse leader. Both of them discussed how they became leaders and how they see all nurses as leaders.

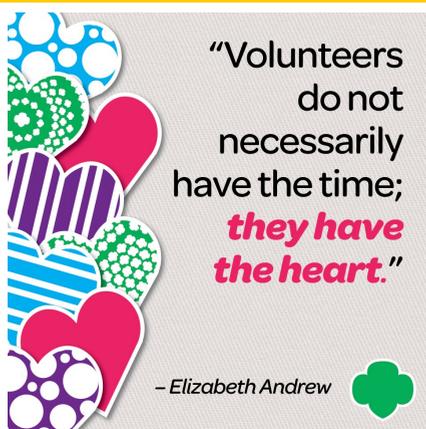

The goal of the Nurses on Boards Coalition is to improve the health of communities and the nation through the service of nurses on boards and other bodies. All boards benefit from the unique perspective of nurses to achieve the goals of improved health and efficient and effective health care systems at the local, state and national levels. Learn more about this effort and the Nurses on Boards Coalition below.

When asked if nurses are leaders Michaela said all nurses are leaders. Even if a nurse is not in a leadership position at their work they are still a leader in other aspects, one example is a nurse using leadership techniques when working with a patient trying to maneuver through the health care system. Working as a Certified Nursing Assistant (CNA) helped Michaela gain a respect for the work a CNA has to do every day. This helped when put in charge of CNAs later in her career. Starting at the bottom and working different positions up to the leadership position she holds now gave Michaela a great view of nursing at all levels.

We hope you will share information about your board membership and interest in future service so we can compile a national database of nurses serving on boards and can ultimately help connect nurses with boards.

To view the whole article click here.

To contact the WCNHCP call 307-766-6715 or email msholty@uwyo.edu.

WCNHCP March 2016 Newsletter

Growing into leadership

March 2016

Anne Raga, Administrative Director of Nursing Services at Campbell County Memorial Hospital, discussed how she became a leader of the Wyoming Nurses Association (WNA). Anne didn't start out looking to become the president of the WNA but as she became more involved she wanted to help guide the WNA vision. This decision to help mold the WNA from within came as she became more knowledgeable about what the WNA stands for on nursing issues.

Anne started her journey at the district level, helping a colleague that wasn't able to attend all of the state meetings. Anne sat in on the meetings learning what the WNA mission and vision is for the future of nursing. Once Anne became more comfortable with the WNA she decided to run for ANA Delegate, and then for the presidency of the WNA. Being elected president gave Anne the opportunity to not only influence policy on the state level but she was also able to attend national conferences and meet with legislators on the national level.

When asked what other nurses need to do to prepare themselves to be part of a board Anne had some suggestions. First a person needs to get to know an organization by finding out what the vision and mission of the board you are looking to be part of. You don't need to agree with 100% of what the board is doing but you need to agree with the majority of what the board stands for. Then look at what you can do as a board member to help the organization from within. When moving into executive positions take a look at who you can recruit to help guide the organization. A leader needs to help get the right people in place to ensure the mission and vision of the organization is followed.

The WCNHCP is the nursing workforce center and the Action Coalition for the State of Wyoming. The mission of the center is to strengthen the nursing workforce through on-going collaboration, communication, and consensus building to meet the health needs of the people of Wyoming.

Preceptor Orientation

Preceptor orientation modules are available on the WCNHCP website: wynursing.org. The modules can be viewed together or individually. Moreover, you can return to the modules whenever you'd like when you need more information or need a little assistance.

Click here for Preceptor Orientation modules.

To read the either entire article please click below.
Growing Into Leadership.
Talking with Emerging Nurse Leaders.

Talking with Emerging Nurse Leaders

10,000 Nurses on Boards by 2020

The Wyoming Center for Nursing and Health Care Partnerships (WCNHCP) sat down with 2 emerging nurse leaders. Melanie Pearce, Regional Supervisor, Public Health Nursing, and Michaela Walker-Herringer, Nurse Case Manager, Wyoming Workforce Services, volunteered their time to discuss what it means to be a nurse leader. Both of them discussed how they became leaders and how they see all nurses as leaders.

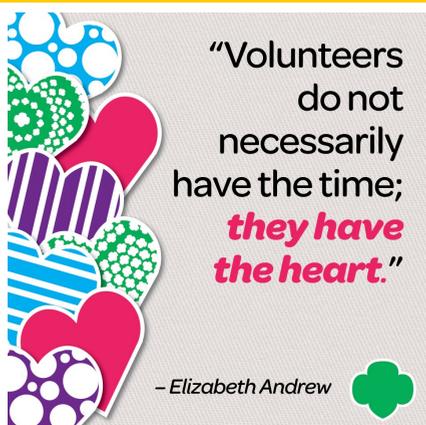

The goal of the Nurses on Boards Coalition is to improve the health of communities and the nation through the service of nurses on boards and other bodies. All boards benefit from the unique perspective of nurses to achieve the goals of improved health and efficient and effective health care systems at the local, state and national levels. Learn more about this effort and the Nurses on Boards Coalition below.

When asked if nurses are leaders Michaela said all nurses are leaders. Even if a nurse is not in a leadership position at their work they are still a leader in other aspects, one example is a nurse using leadership techniques when working with a patient trying to maneuver through the health care system. Working as a Certified Nursing Assistant (CNA) helped Michaela gain a respect for the work a CNA has to do every day. This helped when put in charge of CNAs later in her career. Starting at the bottom and working different positions up to the leadership position she holds now gave Michaela a great view of nursing at all levels.

We hope you will share information about your board membership and interest in future service so we can compile a national database of nurses serving on boards and can ultimately help connect nurses with boards.

To view the whole article click here.

To contact the WCNHCP call 307-766-6715 or email msholty@uwyo.edu.

WCNHCP March 2016 Newsletter

Growing into leadership

March 2016

Anne Raga, Administrative Director of Nursing Services at Campbell County Memorial Hospital, discussed how she became a leader of the Wyoming Nurses Association (WNA). Anne didn't start out looking to become the president of the WNA but as she became more involved she wanted to help guide the WNA vision. This decision to help mold the WNA from within came as she became more knowledgeable about what the WNA stands for on nursing issues.

Anne started her journey at the district level, helping a colleague that wasn't able to attend all of the state meetings. Anne sat in on the meetings learning what the WNA mission and vision is for the future of nursing. Once Anne became more comfortable with the WNA she decided to run for ANA Delegate, and then for the presidency of the WNA. Being elected president gave Anne the opportunity to not only influence policy on the state level but she was also able to attend national conferences and meet with legislators on the national level.

When asked what other nurses need to do to prepare themselves to be part of a board Anne had some suggestions. First a person needs to get to know an organization by finding out what the vision and mission of the board you are looking to be part of. You don't need to agree with 100% of what the board is doing but you need to agree with the majority of what the board stands for. Then look at what you can do as a board member to help the organization from within. When moving into executive positions take a look at who you can recruit to help guide the organization. A leader needs to help get the right people in place to ensure the mission and vision of the organization is followed.

The WCNHCP is the nursing workforce center and the Action Coalition for the State of Wyoming. The mission of the center is to strengthen the nursing workforce through on-going collaboration, communication, and consensus building to meet the health needs of the people of Wyoming.

Preceptor Orientation

Preceptor orientation modules are available on the WCNHCP website: wynursing.org. The modules can be viewed together or individually. Moreover, you can return to the modules whenever you'd like when you need more information or need a little assistance.

Click here for Preceptor Orientation modules.

To read the either entire article please click below.
Growing Into Leadership.
Talking with Emerging Nurse Leaders.

Talking with Emerging Nurse Leaders

10,000 Nurses on Boards by 2020

The Wyoming Center for Nursing and Health Care Partnerships (WCNHCP) sat down with 2 emerging nurse leaders. Melanie Pearce, Regional Supervisor, Public Health Nursing, and Michaela Walker-Herringer, Nurse Case Manager, Wyoming Workforce Services, volunteered their time to discuss what it means to be a nurse leader. Both of them discussed how they became leaders and how they see all nurses as leaders.

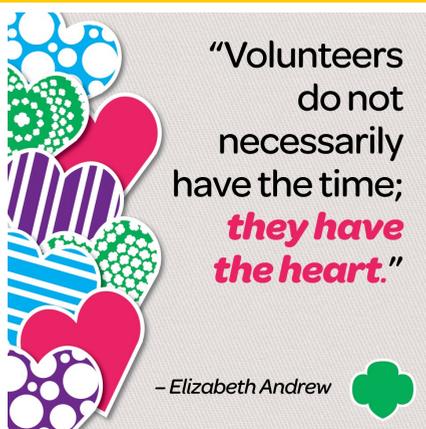

The goal of the Nurses on Boards Coalition is to improve the health of communities and the nation through the service of nurses on boards and other bodies. All boards benefit from the unique perspective of nurses to achieve the goals of improved health and efficient and effective health care systems at the local, state and national levels. Learn more about this effort and the Nurses on Boards Coalition below.

When asked if nurses are leaders Michaela said all nurses are leaders. Even if a nurse is not in a leadership position at their work they are still a leader in other aspects, one example is a nurse using leadership techniques when working with a patient trying to maneuver through the health care system. Working as a Certified Nursing Assistant (CNA) helped Michaela gain a respect for the work a CNA has to do every day. This helped when put in charge of CNAs later in her career. Starting at the bottom and working different positions up to the leadership position she holds now gave Michaela a great view of nursing at all levels.

We hope you will share information about your board membership and interest in future service so we can compile a national database of nurses serving on boards and can ultimately help connect nurses with boards.

To view the whole article click here.

To contact the WCNHCP call 307-766-6715 or email msholty@uwyo.edu.

WCNHCP March 2016 Newsletter

Growing into leadership

March 2016

Anne Raga, Administrative Director of Nursing Services at Campbell County Memorial Hospital, discussed how she became a leader of the Wyoming Nurses Association (WNA). Anne didn't start out looking to become the president of the WNA but as she became more involved she wanted to help guide the WNA vision. This decision to help mold the WNA from within came as she became more knowledgeable about what the WNA stands for on nursing issues.

Anne started her journey at the district level, helping a colleague that wasn't able to attend all of the state meetings. Anne sat in on the meetings learning what the WNA mission and vision is for the future of nursing. Once Anne became more comfortable with the WNA she decided to run for ANA Delegate, and then for the presidency of the WNA. Being elected president gave Anne the opportunity to not only influence policy on the state level but she was also able to attend national conferences and meet with legislators on the national level.

When asked what other nurses need to do to prepare themselves to be part of a board Anne had some suggestions. First a person needs to get to know an organization by finding out what the vision and mission of the board you are looking to be part of. You don't need to agree with 100% of what the board is doing but you need to agree with the majority of what the board stands for. Then look at what you can do as a board member to help the organization from within. When moving into executive positions take a look at who you can recruit to help guide the organization. A leader needs to help get the right people in place to ensure the mission and vision of the organization is followed.

The WCNHCP is the nursing workforce center and the Action Coalition for the State of Wyoming. The mission of the center is to strengthen the nursing workforce through on-going collaboration, communication, and consensus building to meet the health needs of the people of Wyoming.

Preceptor Orientation

Preceptor orientation modules are available on the WCNHCP website: wynursing.org. The modules can be viewed together or individually. Moreover, you can return to the modules whenever you'd like when you need more information or need a little assistance.

Click here for Preceptor Orientation modules.

To read the either entire article please click below.
Growing Into Leadership.
Talking with Emerging Nurse Leaders.

Talking with Emerging Nurse Leaders

10,000 Nurses on Boards by 2020

The Wyoming Center for Nursing and Health Care Partnerships (WCNHCP) sat down with 2 emerging nurse leaders. Melanie Pearce, Regional Supervisor, Public Health Nursing, and Michaela Walker-Herringer, Nurse Case Manager, Wyoming Workforce Services, volunteered their time to discuss what it means to be a nurse leader. Both of them discussed how they became leaders and how they see all nurses as leaders.

The goal of the Nurses on Boards Coalition is to improve the health of communities and the nation through the service of nurses on boards and other bodies. All boards benefit from the unique perspective of nurses to achieve the goals of improved health and efficient and effective health care systems at the local, state and national levels. Learn more about this effort and the Nurses on Boards Coalition below.

When asked if nurses are leaders Michaela said all nurses are leaders. Even if a nurse is not in a leadership position at their work they are still a leader in other aspects, one example is a nurse using leadership techniques when working with a patient trying to maneuver through the health care system. Working as a Certified Nursing Assistant (CNA) helped Michaela gain a respect for the work a CNA has to do every day. This helped when put in charge of CNAs later in her career. Starting at the bottom and working different positions up to the leadership position she holds now gave Michaela a great view of nursing at all levels.

We hope you will share information about your board membership and interest in future service so we can compile a national database of nurses serving on boards and can ultimately help connect nurses with boards.

To view the whole article click here.

To contact the WCNHCP call 307-766-6715 or email msholty@uwyo.edu.

